

VETERANS CARE FOR BODY OF THE AGED MAN KILLED BY GAS

Confederate Camp Takes Charge While Record As Soldier Is Traced.

The body of Simon A. Holt, the aged man who was accidentally asphyxiated by illuminating gas in a room at 913 Twelfth street northwest, yesterday, was taken in charge today by Camp No. 37, United Confederate Veterans, and turned over to Undertaker J. William Lee to be prepared for burial. Papers found in the aged man's room would indicate that he was a Union veteran, having served throughout the civil war with an Illinois company of volunteers, but J. T. Petty, chairman of the Confederate veterans' relief committee, said he had been told that Mr. Holt was a Confederate, and for that reason he had taken charge of the remains until his record could be traced through the War Department.

Other papers in Mr. Holt's room showed that he was a pensioner and had at one time been in a national soldiers' home. He came to this city recently from Tennessee. He is said to have been a lawyer, minister, and doctor, and at one time traveled about the country delivering temperance lectures. Efforts on the part of the police to get any trace of his relatives have failed.

Head of Bahaists Will Speak Again

Abdul Baha, the head of the Bahaist movement, will speak again on universal peace at the Eighth Street Temple this evening.

Last evening he addressed an audience at the Church of Our Father, Universalist, of which the Rev. John Van Schaick, Jr., is pastor. Abdul Baha was a picturesque figure as he stood on the rostrum at Dr. Van Schaick's church. He was clad in flowing cream-colored robes, and he wore a white turban on his head.

Salesman in Hospital After Cutting Throat

Frank Curran, a salesman, of 105 Second street southwest, is recovering today in the Casualty Hospital from what the police say was a double attempt at suicide. After cutting his throat with a small pocket knife, while at the foot of Howard road, Anacostia, yesterday afternoon, Curran, with blood flowing from the wound, waded out into the Eastern branch of the Potomac. When about 100 feet from the shore, Curran changed his mind and waded back to the shore. He was discovered by two colored men, who notified the police of the Anacostia precinct. A police ambulance was called and he was taken to the hospital.

According to the police, Curran refused to make any statement when he came out of the water. The police were told he had been in ill-health. At the hospital it was said he would recover.

MORE REPUBLICANS WHO RULED HOUSE FOUND AMONG LOST

Third of Lower Barnch of Congress Composed of New Men.

The roll of defeated Republicans of the House grows longer today as complete returns come in. About one-third of the membership of the Sixty-third Congress will consist of men who are new to the political life of the nation. Many of these recruits replace Republicans, who for years have been conspicuous, first on the majority and then on the minority side of the floor. Notable among them is "Uncle Joe" Cannon, whom the belated returns failed to save.

Here's a partial list of Republican old-timers who are buried today beneath the Democratic landslide.

William B. McKinley, of Illinois, the Taft manager in the pre-convention campaign.

Edgar D. Crumpacker, of Indiana, lone Republican who survived the Democratic landslide in the Hoosier State two years ago.

William A. Rodenberg, of Illinois, former Cannon lieutenant, and staunch Taft supporter.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, one-time "czar" of the House, and a veteran of more than a third of a century's service.

Benjamin J. Hill, of Connecticut.

Cyrus Sulloway, of New Hampshire.

Olin H. Young, of Michigan, a member of the Stanley steel investigating committee.

John H. Davidson, of Wisconsin.

Frank D. Currier, of New Hampshire, Republican caucus chairman in the House.

George W. Prince, of Illinois, ranking Republican member of the House Military Affairs Committee.

By reduced pluralities Congressman Mackin, the minority floor leader, and Congressman Nick Longworth have pulled through. Congressman Madden, of Illinois, is another Republican veteran who managed to escape the landslide.

Congressman Daniel Lefean, of the Pennsylvania old guard, has been defeated according to late returns.

Congressman Parran, a comparatively new Republican member from the Fifth Maryland district, has been retired in favor of a Democrat, Frank O. Smith, of Calvert county, won out by a plurality of approximately 1,000. The Fifth Maryland has been Republican since 1894, and the rout of Parran was a surprise.

Approximately complete returns indicate the next House will stand: Democrats, 297; Republicans, 122; Progressives, 16.

Appropriation Board Goes to Canal Zone

On their annual tour to inspect the Panama Canal and figure necessary appropriations this year, members of the House Appropriations Committee will leave New York this afternoon on the Panama Railroad steamer, Cristobal. Chairman Fitzgerald and most of the committee, with several other Congressmen, will make the trip. They will spend a week in the Canal Zone and return just before Congress convenes.

Fortification of the canal, which will be one of the principal financial matters under consideration, will be considered by the committee and reported to the House.

Crapshooters Fined.

John Taylor, Dave Wilson, John Austin, and Joe Delaney, all colored, charged with blocking the public highway and shooting craps in Morris road yesterday, were fined $5 each by Judge Pugh, of the district branch of Police Court today.

Work Is Begun on Site of Pumping Station on Minnesota Avenue.

Work has begun on the grading of the site for the new $25,000 pumping station to be erected at the corner of Eighteenth street and Minnesota avenue southeast, which will furnish water to the territory east of the Anacostia river.

The station is expected to be in operation by June 1. Water towers of 100,000 gallon capacity are to be erected on the grounds of the building and the final preparation of his annual report, and the audience knew nothing made a year ago.

Naval Vessel Escapes Eruption in Alaska

From this it is understood that the vessel was not injured during the recent volcanic eruption in Alaska.

Panic Is Averted In Picture Theater

Prompt action on the part of members of No. 12 engine company prevented a panic among the patrons of a motion picture theater at 415 Ninth street northwest late yesterday afternoon, when fire was discovered in the chimney near the roof of the building.

The firemen were advised of the situation upon their arrival by the manager of the theater and proceeded to the roof by means of a side stairway. In less than two minutes, the blaze, caused by soot in the chimney, had been extinguished, and the audience knew nothing of the fire. The damage was $10.

Indigestion

IT'S not conducive to merriment to eat something nice and then have a feeling in your stomach as though you had swallowed a brick. Indigestion makes one nervous—irritable—unfit for work—worried and generally run down. To work full time the system has got to be in good shape.
